

Health & Safety Month Breakfast

Wednesday October 23 2024

connect learn share

Join WorkSafe Victoria and the Australian Institute of Occupational Hygienists (AIOH) for a free breakfast and informative discussion as part of Health and Safety Month.

This session will explore a number of issues relevant to occupational hygienists, including welding fumes, workplace exposure limits, silica controls and noise.

Schedule

- Arrival and registration: 7:00 am to 7:30 am
- Breakfast: 7:30 am to 8:00 am
- Forum: 8:00 am to 9:15 am
- Networking: 9:15 am to 10:00 am

Location

The Hotel Windsor,
111 Spring Street,
Melbourne VIC 3000

Speakers

Perdita Dickson

Perdita Dickson is the Manager of Occupational Health and Operational Programs with WorkSafe Victoria. She is an occupational hygienist with over 15 years of experience in manufacturing, health care and as a regulator. Perdita joined WorkSafe Victoria as a Senior Occupational Hygienist and moved into the Prevention, Strategy and Planning Division in 2021

Halil Ahmet

Principal Occupational Hygienist with WorkSafe Victoria, manages a team of Occupational Hygienists and is appointed as an Inspector under the Occupational Health and Safety Act and the Dangerous Goods Act. Engaged with WorkSafe Victoria as an Occupational Hygienist since 1990 and in that time has visited hundreds of workplaces regarding a wide range of hazards including silica, asbestos, isocyanates, noise, heat and Q fever.

James Webster

Before joining WorkSafe in April 2018, James worked as an A-Grade electrician in the construction industry. In his time at WorkSafe, James has enjoyed a variety of roles. As the Senior Construction Advisor, he enjoys developing guidance, providing advice, and getting out on-site. James has recently completed his Bachelor of Public Health and Health Promotion. The degree has helped in creating initiatives to address issues within the construction industry, including exposure to crystalline silica.

Jaemie Wilson

Jaemie is currently the Principal Occupational Hygienist with the Victorian Infrastructure Development Authority and a board member of the AIOH Foundation, a registered Health Promotion Charity which has the aim of prevention and control of workplace occupational diseases in Australia. Jaemie has over 30 years' experience in Occupational Hygiene and has worked in Occupational Hygiene Consulting and laboratory services, held senior management positions in Multinational companies in heavy manufacturing, Oil and Gas, Mining. During his career, Jaemie has worked all over Australia, New Zealand, Asia and the Middle East.

A Partnership Event for Occupational Hygienists by WorkSafe Victoria and the AIOH

Limited spots available.
Register now.

Scan the code or visit
aioh.eventsair.com/hasmb/register-now/Site/Register